About

The fourth European conference for Fetal Surgery will provide an opportunity to review where we are, how we got there and what the future holds in this exciting field. We are organising a stimulating scientific programme involving world leaders in this area, sharing and demonstrating fetal surgery techniques and data and also provide the best of Irish hospitality and entertainment.

Who should attend?

Anyone with an interest in fetal surgery including paediatric surgeons, fetal medicine specialists, anaesthetists, obstetricians and researchers.

Registration will open shortly - save the date!
